BY GEORGE H. CUSHING,
Special Correspondent of The Courier

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—A morning caller at the White House—had just returned from New York which as is known is the seat of knowledge as well as the home of the Stock Exchange. While there, he had seen many eminent persons but neglected to say whether it was on the street at the theatre or in their offices. However, he brought back to this quiet provincial hamlet some news from the great outside world. The principal item was that we have just ahead of us two years of very good business with very excellent prices for things and, of course, very nice profits for the business people. It is very cheerful information—it is one could believe it.

However there is a fly in the ointment as is usually the case. To give a general idea of the direction from which the information came, it may be whispered that these are the gentlemen who said.

"America is on the eve of the great export trade which ever blessed any nation. That was in 1918.

"America has just ahead of her three to five years of unprecedented prosperity. That was in mid-summer of 1920.

When gentlemen prove such astonishingly prophetic as to predict with positiveness things which they now say can never happen and other things which turned to ashes of hope within three months after they were uttered, we, who are a little more careful, can take their present statements with the proper quantity of salt—a grain or a spoonful.

"However," as our orators say, there are some finger prints here and there which point in the direction which these gentlemen predict we are going to move. For one thing a terrific drive was made to bring about a return to the gold standard. The gold standard was not a victory at all. Wages are still quite handsome. In the coal mines, there is nothing but a record of overwhelming defeat for the operators. When these two strikes ended to bring down wages business gave up hope of bringing about any definite return to the gold standard.

Clearly when the United States Steel Corporation gave a 20 per cent increase, recently, in certain schedules. The latter action speaking frankly brought out the charge that Judge Gage had suddenly gone business blind. Some men said that he had simply toppled into his doghouse. Others began talking about his possible insanity as the head of the steel industry on the theory that he was rapidly becoming incapacitated for active business.

Now, however the fact of the matter is coming out. The drive for lower wages has failed. The drive for lower freight rates has failed. The effort to bring down the taxes has amounted to very little and may soon be nullified by other Congressional extravaganzas which will completely nullify the saving.

Business losses during the last two years has been worse than frightful. All of these things taken into account mean only one thing. We tried to return to the gold standard by forcing down wages and we failed. We tried to bring down freight rates and we failed. We tried to bring down taxes and we failed. This means to say that this country has started deliberately on a period of second period inflation. In this connection, a bit of unwritten history may be of some interest.

In October of 1920 we were in the tall end of a period of business boom. But, we were approaching a railroad strike and other large labor troubles seemed not very far distant. Also we were discussing the possibility of a soldier bonus and were just talking of the national budget. In that month the National Association of Purchasing Agents held its annual convention in Indianapolis and invited me out for some reason known only to itself to make a speech. I told them that the annual expenses of the government were so big as to amount to 65 per cent of the value of primary products each year at the point of production—the output of farms, mines and quarries and factories. I told them that the expenses absorbed between 40 per cent and 50 per cent of the average annual increase in wealth and to one I told them that we must either cut expenses—which was and is impossible—or expand our business.

About that time the railroad wage question came up. The railroads were and a year of strike in order to get wages down. Secretary Hoover at the time of the strike and expansion wage schedule then in effect was saying:

"We're in such a financial position that we must have a second period of inflation. In this connection, a bit of unwritten history may be of some interest.

THE SOISSON.

"SMILIN' THROUGH," the feature picture today, Tuesday and Wednesday at this theatre, is a First National picture, pronounced by critics as the greatest photoplay in which Norma Tammie has ever appeared. Norma is at her historic best in the dual role that this powerful drama gives her. She is seen first as the girl Monyee, who is slain on her wedding day by a jealous suitor. Then she is the young and beautiful Kathleen, who is the image of her deceased aunt, Monyee.

Kathleen falls in love with Kenneth Wayne, son of the man who killed Monyee, and the obstacles placed in the way of the young lovers by John Caterer, who was to have married

THE PARAMOUNT.

"MR. BARNES OF NEW YORK," the principal attraction today and tomorrow at this theatre, presents Tom Moore in the stellar role. Those who have seen the stage version of "Mr. Barnes of New York," remember the many thrilling incidents that made this melodrama one of the most popular plays of the season. The Goldwyn organization has seen to it that none of the thrills have been lost, and judging from the cast which includes besides Mr. Moore such sterling players as Naomi Childers, Anna Lehr, Sydney Ainsworth and Otto Hoffman.

Wednesday and Thursday Elliott Dexter and Claire Willson will be seen in "Grand Larceny."

THE ORPHEUM.

"DON'T TELL ELMYTHING!" starring Gloria Swanson, Wallace Reid and Elliott Dexter in the stellar roles, opened today at this theatre for a three day attraction. It is a Paramount picture and produced with the usual excellence that characterizes these offerings. The notable thing, of course, is the combination of Wallace Reid, Gloria Swanson and Elliott Dexter in the picture which in itself is a superior attraction. But when there is a breezy story, a tangle of fabrications and a lot of good situations enlivened by real acting—it becomes of added interest. Sam Wood directed, Lorna Moon wrote and A. S. Levino adapted this story. It has to do with two women who love the same man, a self-sacrificing friend who loves one of the women and who helps his friend to win her even against his own chance of happiness. There is a spirited love game and a realistic accident during its progress. It is a real picture with real people in it, and it is handsomely staged.

Thursday, Elliott Clayton will be featured in "Exit Vexed."

THE ARCADE.

Coming to the Arcade Theatre for one week commencing Monday, October 2 Manager Wallace has booked an attraction of merit, the Castle Musical Company, a company of 16 people with special scenery and very funny musical comedies and good vaudeville specialties. Among the personnel of the company are Jake J. Rose, Don Baxter, Charles Forrest and Fred Wilson and the female members are Miss Ollie Castle, Julie Paulson and Miss Beldie Lane and a singing and dancing chorus of 9. Pretty costumes, scenery and last but not least all splendid music. The company play, "The House Party," is guaranteed to please and the delightfully humorous situations are sure to keep the audience's interest throughout. In addition a special picture presentation has been arranged.

HIGH SCHOOL WINS FROM SOMERSET BY LARGE MARGIN, 33-0

Cokers Very Superior to Visiting Aggregation; Goal Never in Danger.

JOHNSTOWN IS THE NEXT

With some regulars out of the lineup Saturday to afford them an opportunity to get a complete rest in preparation for the big game with Johnstown next Saturday, the Connellsville High School football team played through the Somerset line and ran around the ends for 40 minutes Saturday, amassing a total of 33 points. The Frisky Sons of Thunder were blanked.

The visiting high school team had no chance from the start and never endangered the Connellsville goal line. The Cokers held repeatedly and first downs by their opponents were few and far between. The dust of Everett Field seemed to be worse than the preceding Saturday and the players did not work too hard. One delight: thing about the Cokers is that they never ceased their efforts to score. The ball was on Somerset's five-yard line when the game ended and one more play would likely have taken it across.

The Cokers seldom had to punt. At one time Captain Whipple elected to kick on the first down, feeling he might gain ground by that move and also to save his men from having to drive a long distance up the slope for a touchdown. The kick seemed the proper thing as Connellsville seldom failed to hold Somerset for downs, forcing a punt.

The teams kicked off and immediately held. A punt went to May who carried it back 30 yards. The Cokers were held with only three yards' gain in three downs and then completed a forward on the final down, George to Neil, making the required distance. Then there was no stopping. Straight football covered the remaining 20 yards for a score, and George made the touchdown. Lowmyer kicked the goal.

The next score followed almost as quickly. Somerset seemed momentarily disconcerted. The visitors again received the kick-off but lost the ball when Neil intercepted a forward. It was Connellsville's first down on Somerset's 30-yard line. A criss-cross, Whipple to George, completely fooled the opposing eleven, and George was well on his way for a touchdown when he was tackled. He covered 24 yards in getting to the goal line. Lowmyer failed at the kick.

There was no further scoring in the first half. In the third quarter the Cokers again kicked off, but held Somerset for downs. Ruskak received the punt and hustling back 15 yards, Ruskak being tackled. The ball was on Somerset's 33-yard line. Ruskak hit off tackle for four, George made 11 yards on the criss-cross on the side for 14 and then on the other side for 15, crossing the goal line. Lowmyer kicked the goal from place-kick, making the total 20-0.

For the first time Somerset kicked off to Connellsville. Ruskak received the ball and made up 33 yards before being brought to earth. Ruskak again hit off tackle for five yards and added six more for a first down in the game place. Another criss-cross resulted in a 22-yard gain by George who then hit the line for exactly 15 yards. Whipple took the ball the running back, adding another goal from place-kick, bringing the total to 27-0. Somerset elected to receive again and the ball went to the five-yard line. The receiver fumbled and the ball was held at that point. Whipple received the punt, fumbled, but made 15 yards after recovering.

Ruskak added five yards and then George fumbled but recovered at once, gaining two yards on the play. Jean hit again for four more and then May plunged for the remaining two yards and fell across the goal line. The goal kick was no good and the score stood at 33-0, the final result.

Connellsville again kicked off but got the ball when Ruskak intercepted a forward pass. The Cokers began another march. Ruskak made a touchdown but when within five yards of the line the final whistle ended the game.

Connellsville certainly has a fine pair of ends in Neil and Rull. They are always on their toes and nothing passes them. Both have done good work in the aerial line this year.

The Cokers are just about all set for Johnstown. The team is well hardened and working more smoothly. Although High School has seen some teams with more scoring power, the 1922 squad is about one of the most evenly balanced ever assembled here.

There was some fierce tackling on both sides Saturday. The Cokers plainly show the benefit of the tackling dummy practice.

"Mickey" McCormick watched the game from the sidelines. He was not in uniform on order of Coach Wine, who wants to have him in first class shape for the Flood City game. Mickey is a power in the backfield.

Bnos, although in uniform, was also on the rest list. The powerful guard will be "right" by next Saturday.

Quite a few adherents of the Cokers will make the trip to Johnstown next Saturday. The game will be the first away from home.

The Tornadoes expect to water Fayette Field for their game with United Wednesday unless there is rain before that time.

Tying with Cincinnati Saturday afternoon when the game was called on account of darkness when the score was 7-7, the Pittsburgh Pirates played a double header with that team yesterday and lost them both, 5-4 and 5-1. Cincinnati won the first game in the ninth after two were out. By dropping the double header, Pittsburgh went into a tie with St. Louis for third place.

The St. Louis Browns, defeating Chicago, 2-1 yesterday, while Washington trimmed the Yankees, 5-1, finished the season just one game behind the league leaders. It was the best year in the history of the Browns.

Tornadoes Will Play Wednesday

FATALITY RATE IN MINES SHOWED AN INCREASE IN AUGUST

Was 3.80 Per Million Tons as Compared With 3.69 in August 1921.

TOTAL FOR YEAR SMALLER

The Connellsville Tornadoes have scheduled another of last year's opponents for a game here Wednesday. United is the attraction. Many remember the bulky football outfit which came here last year with every intention of splitting the perfect record of the Coker team and went home with its aspirations knocked in to a cocked hat.

The Tornadoes have been strengthened since last Wednesday. Gene, a Scottish, regarded as one of the best quarterbacks who ever played on the gridiron, is now with the Brown and White team, and he will fill a position where the loss of LaPorte was felt. Bufano, who has been acting as a quarter, will resume his former position at half.

Another new face may be seen on the line. Coach Jones has been strong on a man who played four years with Gettysburg. The Connellsville team this year will be able to face any organization in the football world.

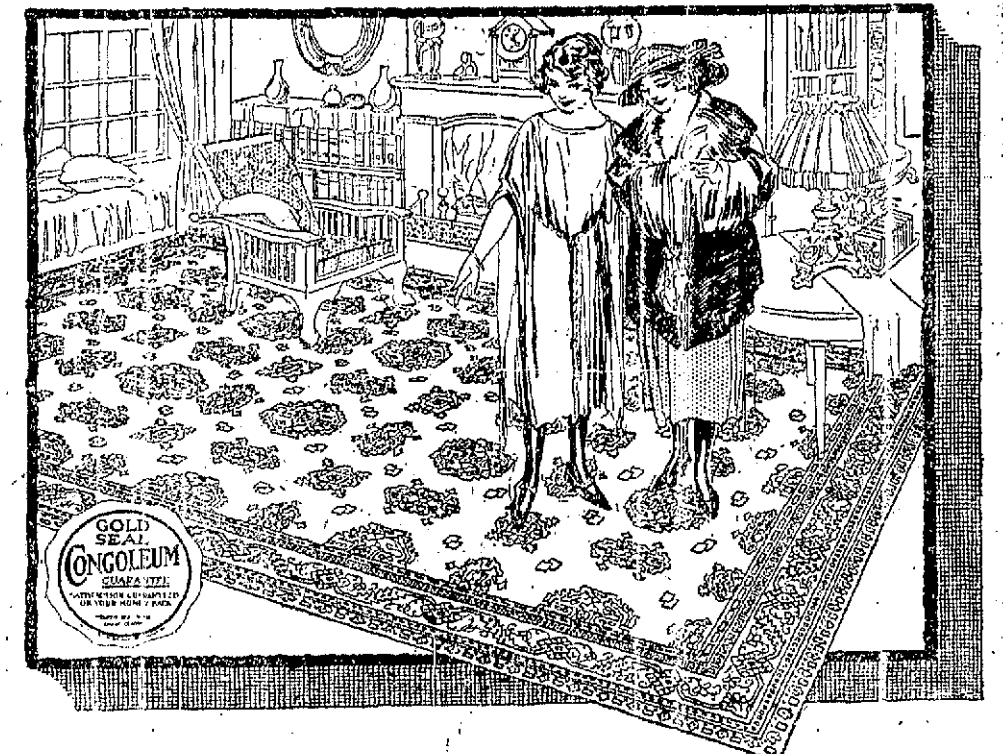

The old-fashioned man who buys a gold brick has been heard from again, and, although the baseball season is passing, there is a chance that the moss-grown hidden ball trick may yet be worked.

Harry McCurdy, the catcher from the University of Illinois, who looked so good with the St. Louis Cardinals, needs, it seems, a bit of seasoning, and he has been shunted to Syracuse in the International to get it.

During the month of August accidents at coal mines in the United States resulted in the death of 98 men, according to reports received by the Federal Bureau of Mines. Of these fatalities, 95 occurred at bituminous mines and two at anthracite operations. The total output of coal for the month, including a small amount of steam sizes of anthracite, mostly from river drudges, was 25,776,000 tons.

The fatality rate for August was therefore, 3.80 per million tons as against 3.69 for the same month last year. The average fatality rate for August over a nine-year period, 1913-1921, is 4.15. For bituminous mines alone, the August rate was 3.75, as compared with 3.30 for August one year ago, and an average rate of 3.78 for the nine years, 1913-1921. For bituminous mines alone and for bituminous and anthracite mines combined, the August, 1922 rate is slightly higher than for the corresponding month last year but lower than the nine-year average rate for the same month.

During the first eight months of the current year, reports to the Bureau of Mines show that accidents at coal mines have killed 1,035 men, 159 at anthracite mines and 876 at bituminous mines. During the corresponding period last year there were 1,318 fatalities, of which 366 were at anthracite mines and 952 at bituminous mines. For each million tons of coal mined, the current fatality rate is 4.07 as against 4.03 for the eight-month period last year. For bituminous mines alone this year's rate is 3.77 as against 3.66 last year; for anthracite mines alone the 1922 rate is 7.16 as compared with 5.69 one year ago.

Falls of roof and coal are responsible for a fatality rate in 1922 slightly below the eight-month rate last year; accidents due to explosives have decreased nearly 50 per cent in the fatality rate; a slight reduction in the rate in the case of roof falls is noted in the rate from electricity. The fatality rate from hoisting accidents has increased about seven per cent; while that from gas and dust explosions is about double the rate for the first eight months last year, due to seven major disasters killing 82 men in the early months of 1922. The month of August was free from large disasters.

The dances will be held on the second floor of S. B. Miller's new garage which he is building on the corner of Market avenue and Pittsburgh street. A first class orchestra will be secured by the department for dancing, and a number of refreshment stands will be erected. The dances will more than likely be on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of this week.

News of Dunbar

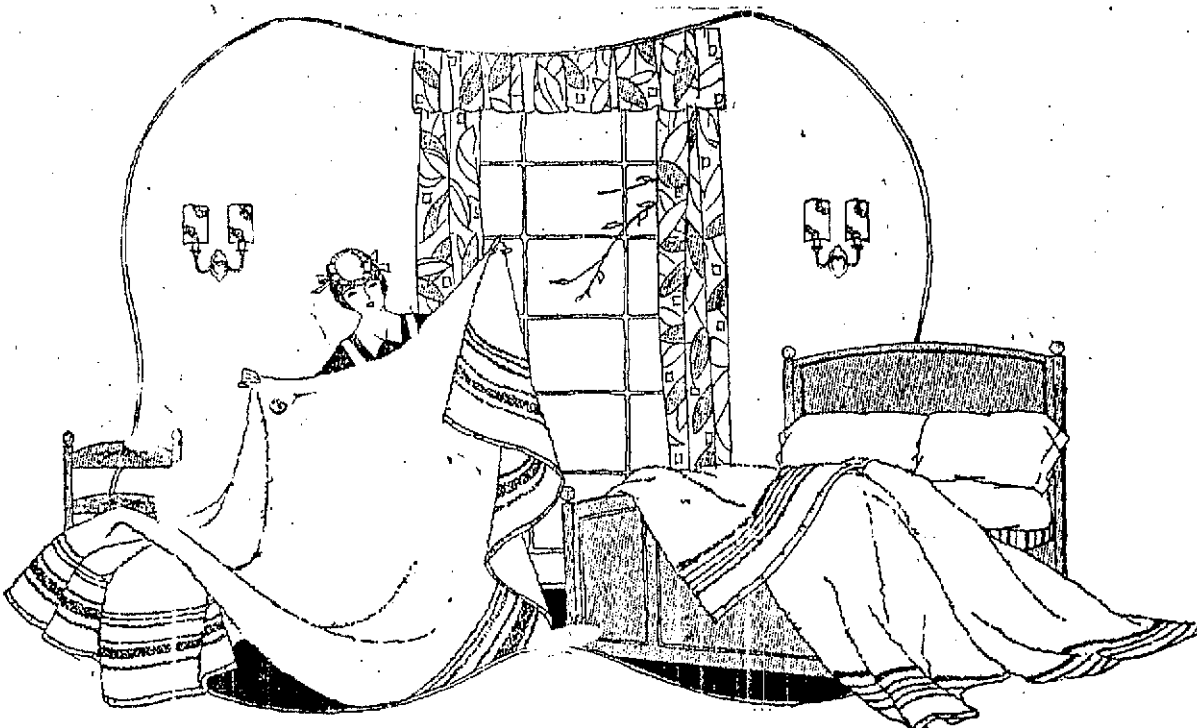

DUNBAR, Oct. 2.—The proposed Ferguson-Mount Braddock road was partially viewed last Monday, the 11th of his wife preventing W. H. Blinn from being present, and he being the engineer the line was not surveyed. He will later make the survey, before the viewers make their report. The viewers present, Munson and Vance, spent 35 minutes looking over the line, and apparently following the advice of interested parties rather than the petition, placed the true starting point, and indicated an unauthorized and unduly expensive construction, but this can all be corrected by the engineer. The petition does not provide for the vacation of any of the present public road and the substitution of an expensive elevation over possible but not probable siding construction. It does provide for the road to begin at the present terminus of the Ferguson road at the West Penn. crossing, and extending to Baker's store at the North Union township line. The township will not surround what it already has to accommodate any one, but it will insist on the road asked for beginning at the terminus of the present road.

The talk of widening the Ferguson road from Pechin to its present terminus at Ferguson station is purely propaganda, the object of which seems to be to discourage the demand of the more than two hundred people who are clamoring for the Ferguson-Mount Braddock road to be located and built. But the people concerned are not deceived, but are asking that the present 16-foot road be kept in reasonable condition. The Ferguson road is in many places in as bad condition as Woodville street and the Conneltsville road in the borough. But the borough is already improving it, had road, while the Ferguson road is constantly becoming worse. The people are asking the supervisors how they could keep up a 20-foot road, when they fail to keep up a 16-foot one. And they are also anxious to know just how much longer the Pennsylvania Railroad is going to be allowed to block up by refusing to remove the obstructing bent of the trestle, the new Pechin-Dunbar short-line road. The people are extremely anxious about this, as the opening of this new road to traffic means dollars in their pockets. If the road is opened the residents of Pechin will save 50 cents on every load of coal. That is, for hauling a load of coal from Dunbar to Hartsville and then over the new road to the furnace railroad yards, the residents of Pechin will save 50 cents more than if they could haul up the valley over the new road. As the branch the Pennsylvania Railroad refuses to adjust to the township road merely extends from Pechin to the Furnace tracks at the east end of the trestle where the junction with the New Haven & Dunbar (the Furnace road) is made, and the American Manganese Manufacturing Company has to continue to be annoyed by the passing of vehicles and automobiles over the tracks of its yards, the wonder is that the American Manganese Manufacturing Company does not demand of the Pennsylvania Railroad the removal of the obstructing bent, in order that the other adjoining road be vacated and closed. The reason of heavy traffic is here, and something ought to be done immediately so that the people can have the advantage of the lower rate in hauling. The "Class in the Corner" Thursday night of last week entertained about 100 friends at a fine moonlight picnic at the Betty Knox grounds above the furnace dam. It was the most enjoyable picnic of the year. The company went up and returned in automobiles and trucks. The distance is about five miles. Dr. E. B. Gule has purchased a fine new automobile.
